MABS & J Partners * Dhaka * Chartered Accountants

Fair value is a market-based measurement that reflects the price that would be received to sell an asset in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Accordingly, the valuation considers the characteristics of the respective assets and the assumptions that market participants would reasonably consider when determining their value.

Considering the nature, characteristics and availability of relevant market information for the respective asset categories, appropriate valuation approaches and techniques have been applied. The principal approaches adopted include:

- Market Approach, where relevant market evidence and comparable information are available; and
- Replacement Cost Approach, particularly for specialized plant, machinery, equipment and other assets where reliable market transaction data are limited.

In applying the relevant approaches, consideration has been given to factors including the nature and location of the assets, physical condition, age, remaining economic/useful life, prevailing market conditions, replacement cost, physical deterioration, functional and economic obsolescence, where applicable, and other relevant valuation considerations.

Summary of Valuation Results

Based on the valuation procedures performed and our analysis and professional judgment, the aggregate fair value of the Company's Property, Plant and Equipment as at 30 June 2026 has been determined as follows:

The above background information has been compiled primarily from information made available by the Company, including information published on its official website, together with information provided to us in connection with this valuation assignment.

7. STANDARD AND PREMISE OF VALUATION

7.1 Standard of Valuation

The valuation of the Property, Plant and Equipment ("PPE") of Paramount Textile PLC has been conducted on the basis of Fair Value in accordance with the applicable requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), particularly IFRS 13 – Fair Value Measurement.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Fair value is a market-based measurement rather than an entity-specific measurement and, accordingly, reflects the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset under current market conditions, including relevant risks.

In determining fair value, consideration is given to the characteristics of the asset, the principal or most advantageous market, where applicable, and the valuation technique appropriate to the circumstances. Valuation techniques are selected to maximize the use of relevant observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

7.2 Premise of Valuation

The valuation has been performed on the premise that Paramount Textile PLC is a going concern and that the assets are available for their intended use in the ordinary course of the Company's business.

The valuation considers the assets individually or, where appropriate, in the context of their current use and operational purpose. The Company's intention to hold and use the assets does not, by itself, determine their fair value; rather, the valuation reflects the assumptions and conditions that would reasonably be considered by market participants at the valuation date.

The detailed valuation approaches, techniques and key assumptions adopted for the respective categories of Property, Plant and Equipment are set out in the subsequent sections of this report.

8. VALUATION APPROACHES

Three principal approaches are generally recognized for the measurement of fair value: the Market Approach, Cost Approach and Income Approach. The applicability of each approach depends on the nature of the asset and the availability and reliability of relevant information.

8.1 Market Approach

The Market Approach determines value by reference to market prices and other relevant information generated by transactions involving identical or comparable assets.

Under this approach, available market evidence, including recent transactions and prevailing market prices for similar assets, is considered and appropriate adjustments are made for differences in location, condition, specifications, age, size and other relevant characteristics. The Market Approach has been considered and applied, where appropriate, for assets for which reliable market evidence and comparable information are available.

8.2 Cost Approach

The Cost Approach reflects the amount that would currently be required to replace the service capacity of an asset, commonly referred to as current replacement cost.

Under this approach, the estimated current replacement cost of an asset is determined and adjusted, where applicable, for physical deterioration, functional obsolescence and economic obsolescence to arrive at an appropriate indication of fair value.

The Cost Approach is particularly relevant for specialized plant, machinery and equipment where sufficient market transactions involving identical or comparable assets are not readily available.

This approach has been applied to the relevant categories of PPE of Paramount Textile PLC where considered appropriate.

MABS & J Partners Dhaka Chartered Accountants

8.3 Income Approach

The Income Approach converts future economic benefits or cash flows expected to be generated by an asset into a single present value using an appropriate discount rate. The resulting value reflects current market expectations regarding those future cash flows.

The Income Approach is generally more appropriate where the value of an asset is principally derived from its ability to generate identifiable future cash flows. Considering the nature and characteristics of the PPE covered by this assignment, the Income Approach has not been considered the primary valuation approach for the assets under review.

9. SOURCES OF INFORMATION

The valuation has been conducted based on information and documents made available by the management of Paramount Textile PLC, supplemented by our physical inspection, market research, professional assessment and other relevant sources.

The principal sources of information considered in the valuation include:
